APPENDIX A

Responsibility of the Management, purposes and limitations inherent in the internal control structure

The following comments regarding responsibility of the management for the internal control structure, purposes and limitations inherent in the internal control structure are based on the International Standards on Auditing accepted by the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB).

Responsibility of the management

The management is responsible for development and ensuring operation of the internal control. Meeting this objective requires the management to make forecasts and estimates to determine the expected gain and costs relating to fulfilment of the policies and procedures of internal control.

Purposes

The purposes of internal control over financial statements consist in provision of the management with sufficient but not absolute certainty in security of assets and protection from losses as a result of unauthorized use or distribution of assets and guarantee of conduct of operations on the basis of orders of the management and their proper accounting, which will ensure preparation of financial statements under International Public Sector Accounting Standard "Financial Reporting Under the Cash Basis of Accounting" (the "IPSAS") and the World Bank's Financial Management Sector Board's "Guidelines: Financial Reporting and Auditing of Projects financed by the World Banks" (the "WB Guidelines").

Limitations

Due to limitations inherent in any internal control structure, there is a possibility of mistakes and inaccuracies, which can remain undetected. Besides, forecasts with regard to any assessment or structure applicable to future periods can lose their significance due to changed conditions or decreased efficiency of the structure and functionality of the policies and procedures.
